This is the story of a famous journey upon the mighty clipper ship, The Ranger. Leaving port in the fall of 1981, it set sail upon the high seas. Unaware of what might lie ahead, the sailors were willing to "tackle" any difficulties that they would face. Despite a few minor setbacks they emerged successful, ready to meet any challenges on future voyages. Together the words and the pictures that lie ahead tell the story of our voyage, highlighting the moments of fellowship, work, adventure, danger and accomplishments (throughout our high school years.)

Signed,

Your Logkeepers.

Logkeepers ...

Logkeepers

Before an accurate account of our journey could be written, dependable people had to be chosen to take on the responsibility of this job. Late last year, the editors, along with advisor Bob Kaplan (see pictures to left), selected a group of people who would be willing to help in the task of writing our log. The pictures on these pages show some of these people at work and having some fun along the way.

Our trip to the beach was a good way to get the anchor out of the water. There was fun, sun and new friendships made (as shown in pictures).

Our car wash not only brought further unity among us, but helped us financially as well.

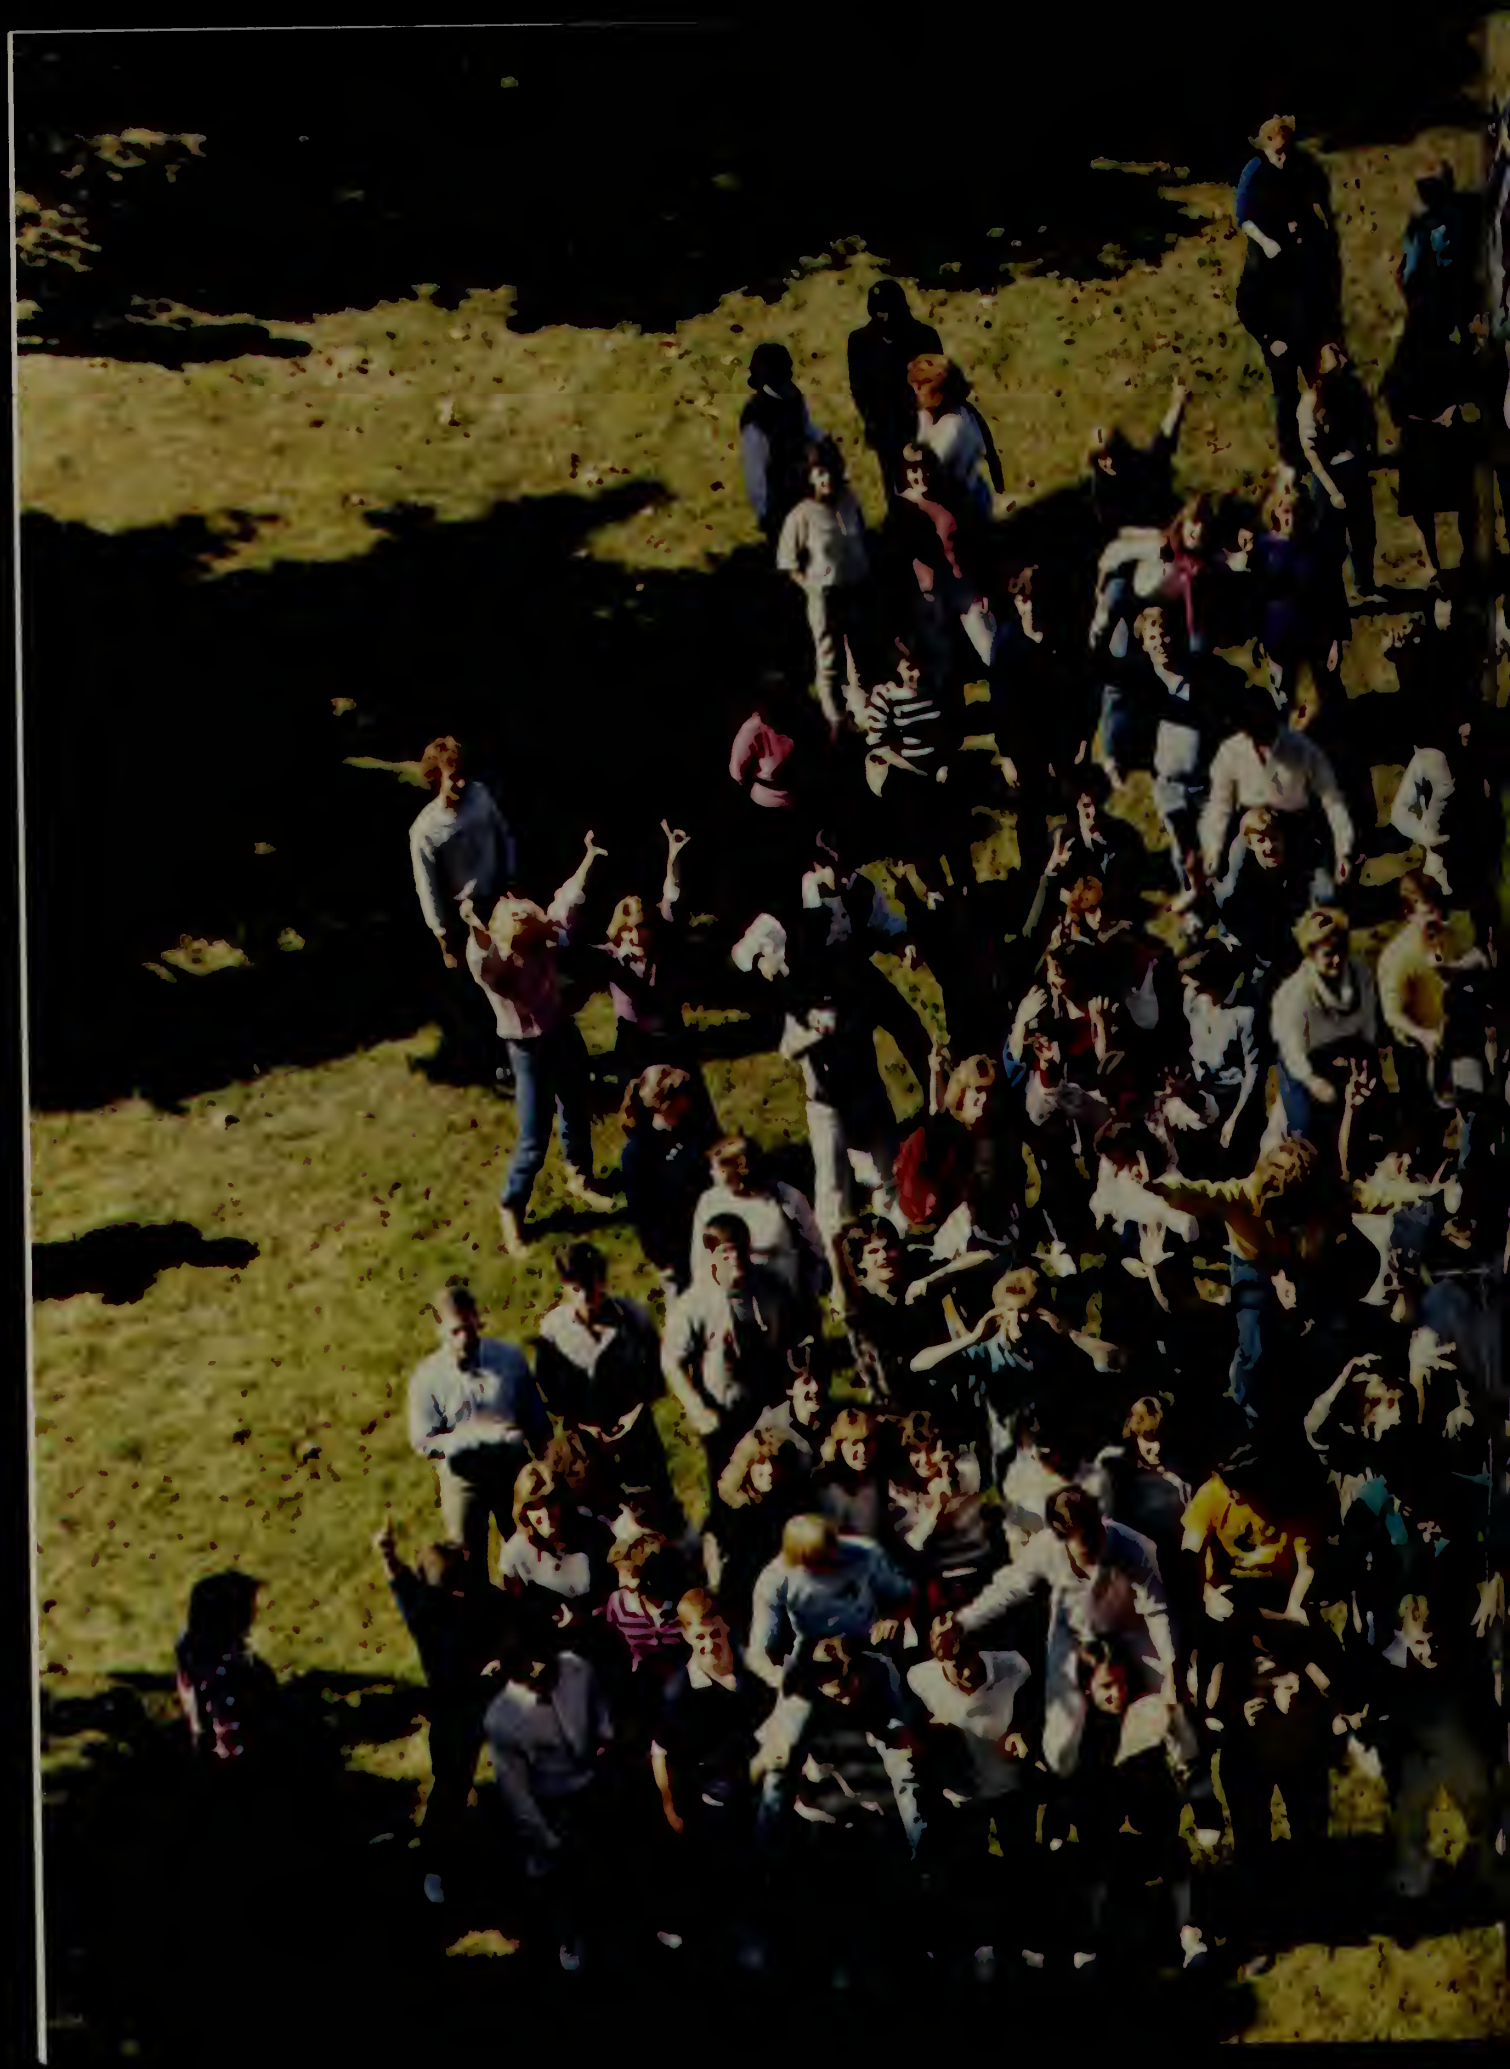
Seasickness

All sailors at one time or another are stricken with a familiar feeling known as seasickness. This feeling is brought on by many factors: never ending classes, forgetting a physics lab was due or just wanting to be with friends.

A reflection of these sudden attacks is expressed on the faces of some of our classmates. In the center picture we have a perfect example of extreme anguish which leads to the bizarre behavior of Mike Holmes and Brian Lemoff. Around the halls, we see the shocked look of Debbie Concaugh when her locker opens after only four tries (see picture at right), and some joyful expressions after an enlightening class (see Bonnie MacLean and Bob Twombly in photos below). Underclassmen who are not used to this type of thing may sometimes go overboard (see pictures on far right), while seniors have an easier solution — they simply give up (Dan Robinson). With seniors, however, it is usually hard to tell whether they are really seasick or not.

Despite the strange reactions students get from being seasick, these off-guard moments helped add variety and humor to our voyage.



Shipmates

The sailors' voyage would have been lacking something if it had to be travelled alone — so friendships were made along the way.

Good companions and friendly faces can be seen everywhere in school. In the picture at the right, Mike Marshall and Mike Charron wander the halls together, while Leslie Foulke and Amy Blanchard show what good friends are like (see photo below). On the opposite page, a cross-country group shows team spirit, and Doug Montgomery, E.J. Gorak, and Mike Power enjoy a good laugh. Hanging by the balcony are Kate Allen, Kelly Harney, and Carol Burman. Finally, there are those whose smiles look better by themselves (just kidding, Mary!).

Through Portholes

Through the portholes of the ship, we are able to see what really goes on below deck. Tom Bushroe (bottom left) shows us how he lost inches off his waist with the Dexatrim diet plan. Christian Gilbert (directly to the right) shows the concentration and determination that it takes to wash a car. Mike Demers shows us how Pearl Drops tooth polish helps him towards a whiter smile and fresher breath. Janine Copland (center photo) displays the cutsie smile that must be used to get the attention of the senior guys. Above to Janine's right are some of the senior guys reacting to her cutsie smile. Westboro's own Valley Girl (below) is shocked when she is introduced to the other side of "punk rock".

A Night At Port—

It was announced that on May 19, 1984, our ship, the "Ranger," would dock at port for a night of festivities. Everyone was excited by the prospect of the long promised weekend leave.

Once the night of the prom finally arrived, couples enjoyed dancing to music provided by "The Marsels," or just sitting back and watching everyone else. The band played a variety of songs to suit everyone's tastes.

For the most part, the whole evening went smoothly. There were, however, some exceptions. Billy Cambell, for instance, ripped his pants while breakdancing and had to return home to change them.

One highlight of the evening was the choosing of the Queen and her court. There were many possible winners, but the judges finally decided upon Heidi Reents, escorted by Brian Guagnini. In her court were Tatianna Hamawi and Jim Lyman, Patty Gallo and Mike Holmes, Kim Girard and Steve DeVries, Mary Flahive and Steve Perry and Jessica Mitchell and John Yarosh.

As the dance ended, other social gatherings began. Many couples went to Chris Gilbert's party afterwards while others spent the rest of the evening alone. Friends joined together the next day at Hampton beach to continue the festivities.

For most of us, the Junior Prom holds many memories. Each person's are slightly different, but we all share this as a class experience that we will not soon forget.

Our Guiding Spirit...

From the earliest times, the sky and all its stars have given sailors both direction and guidance. Our voyage is no different. Mr. Robert Kirby, throughout our four years aboard, has been our guide as he has helped us to survive the difficult waters of our perilous journey. We are thankful for his support and his dedication to the class of nineteen eighty five.

Ship Performers

On Friday evening, April 6, 1984, the First Mates provided cruise entertainment with a talent and variety show. Student "stars", as well as potential comedians, were brought to the surface as a series of lively performances took place on stage. M.C.'s Mike Holmes and Richie Maloney (picture at bottom right) led the show, which was full of surprises.

The 14-act program included music, dance, and comedy. Musical selections ranged from hard rock (see "Impact's" Peter Oikle on opposite page), tunes by the Jackson 5 (Joe Federman, Doug Hanchett and Mike Demma at bottom corner) and vocalist Kim Girard (You've Got a Friend" — opposite page, upper left) to classical piano solos. Dance acts included a comic "Sophomore Shout" (picture at right), and jazz performances by Bonnie Carlson and Penny Smith. Comedy was the highlight of the show, however, and it took on a variety of forms. The "Newlywed Game" was featured, and skits included "School" recited by Mike Powers (opposite page, bottom), "Priscilla" by Jen Linnane and Marianne Seidman (far right corner), and special appearances by several anonymous First Mate sailors.

Winners were announced at the end of the show. First place went to Lianne Wong for her piano solo, followed by twin singer-team Janet and Lorraine Fisher for second, and "Neon Garbage Bags", a barbershop quartet featuring Mike Holmes, Dave Rand, Scott Kruse, and Garret Walker, placed third.

Overall, the Talent Show turned out to be an interesting evening, and is thus recorded in the log of our travels.

Navigators 25 Years

Since the day the sailors began their journey into the unknown seas, every direction and change of direction was taken under the guidance of the navigators. The navigators set their initial course and guided them along every step of the way, using their special talents and instruments to allow the sailors to reach the destinations awaiting them . . .

The exceptional faculty at Westborough High has enriched us all, academically, as well as personally, with their caring attitude. This year we'd especially like to honor and congratulate someone who has devoted twenty five years to students at Westborough High, Mr. Ballard. As a guidance counselor, he has provided valuable counsel and advice to confused crew members and worried First Mates who have to make important future decisions. Mr. Ballard, you are a true navigator!

Each and every member of the faculty has certain characteristics and distinctions which we will always remember. What would a day at school be like without the comedy antics of Mr. Sharpe, the quick wit of Westborough's "swellest guy," Mr. Juszynski, or the sometimes puzzling humor of Mr. Kasierski's "shaggy dog story." Others, such as Mrs. Boyle and Mr. Cerasoli, have a flair for the dramatic, while clever sarcasm is the mark of Mr. Heckman and his devlish grin. With personalities such as these, the sailors at WHS seldom find a moment that is ordinary or dull.

The extraordinary people who comprise our faculty are not limited only to the classroom. From his office, Mr. Vail, our "skipper," runs a tight ship and keeps the crew in order. Westborough High has sorely missed Mr. Robert Kirby this year at his familiar post of Assistant Principle. Much appreciation goes to Mr. Mewhiney, who has taken over Mr. Kirby's responsibilities, and who has held firm in the face of flying food and other milder mutinies.

When it comes to needing information, interpreting school rules, or just trying to find a helping hand, the secretarial staff is always ready. In study hall, Mrs. Howe has been a sincere friend to all of us with her interest and motherly advice. Many students who have never seen a library before would be lost without our skillful librarian, Mrs. Libbey. And, when the dilemma of college finally rolls around, our guidance department is ready to handle the worst problems and worries.

We have mentioned just a few of the individuals who have helped us to chart our course on our voyage through Westborough High School. The entire faculty is pictured on the following pages. We thank you all for preparing us to begin new voyages in search of unknown shores.

A special thanks goes this year to Mrs. Nickerson and to Dr. Chapman. After years of service with WHS they have completed their journey, and are moving on to other pursuits.

Mrs. Nickerson has sailed with WHS for 20 years and has gained a more than seaworthy reputation. She has coached the girls basketball and baseball teams, and she was promoted from her duty as physical instructor to Assistant to the Athletic Director.

Dr. Chapman will be remembered too with highest esteem. She headed the Home Economics Department, and on her own she organized many clubs such as: Future Homemakers, HERO and a group called PACT. She took students on many two day conventions as well. In addition to this, she was the founder of the ships Festival of the Arts.

Both teachers will be remembered for the many contributions they have made during their years at WHS.

To the Graduates:

So now we have come to that time when the Great Quartermaster tolls eight bells on the final watch of our four year voyage together. We can now chart only one course — that for a cruise down Memory Lane as opposed to the unknown waters over which we have sometimes sailed.

As your ship's Captain, it is easy to reflect on the highlights of our trip: never before so many National Merit scholars; never before was such success achieved in athletics; your Booster Day victory this year; your introduction of the Powder Puff Game; your enthusiasm last Fall for Friday morning lobby "serenades". Indeed, you were a spirited crew.

Your class officers and Student Council leaders — the Petty Officers on our ship — have minded well the helm, have kept the rudder amidship and have steered a straight course to the final port called Graduation. After you receive your memorable souvenier on that day there will be only one voyage remaining — a cruise on the ship Vocation through the sea of Life. The Captain, on behalf of the ships officers called faculty, extends to each crew member a sincere hope that your trip will always find you in calm and joyous seas with a full sail and following winds.

As the song says: "Until we meet once more here's wishing you a happy voyage home".

Shoreleave

It's always interesting to see what happens when members of the ship are turned loose on shore. In with the girl's chorus are some funny looking "girls" who desperately need a shave. This year's musical groups have undergone changes in command. Our new Navigator is Mr. Bagget, who is in charge of the band. He has unending patience for he got the band to "hit" the yardline all of once. (Well, it was pretty close.) Along with Mr. P, the two directed the music department very successfully.

This year has produced a great number of invisible groups. We hear rumors that people do belong to these clubs, but no one can be sure. They don't seem to have meetings.

Seniors strike again! Those surprisingly well rounded group of students have returned to grace us with their presence on almost every page. We had never realized that they could speak German, Spanish, French and even English! We thought that "Grunt" was the extent of their vocabulary.

On a more serious note, these clubs do have a meaningful purpose. Along with teaching the ship's sailors about art, music, language and literature, they get the underclassmen out of homeroom. As the year progresses, the roll call dwindles, some clubs even fade away, but are always started up with the same enthusiasm each new year.

Stretchiny The Sea Leys

"Sportsmanship and competition stimulates youth ambition. It's better to build young boys and girls than to mend men and women." — Mr. Mewhiney

"The athletic program is a very important phase of school life and all pupils are encouraged to participate as players and as spectators. Westborough has been proud of its past records but more important has been the emphasis placed upon sportsmanship in the team competition with other schools." — Mr. Vail

Up to now we've shown all of the hard work and fun we've experienced throughout our voyage. We have introduced those who have navigated our long trip. There is one element, however, that has not yet been covered. It is where hard work and fun come together in the form of competition. Competition was very important to all of us aboard the ship. From the skipper down to the seaman recruits, the thrill of competition kept our spirit and morale alive even during rough seas. Competition was a special time. It was a time where everyone could get on deck and stretch his or her legs.

The character of those involved in the competition was greatly enhanced by a sense of teamwork, sportsmanship and dedication to a common goal, victory. It was not only victory in the sense of winning but also a feeling of personal accomplishment and self-satisfaction. These goals would not have been possible without the time and dedication spent by certain special navigators. They kept us straight in our goals and provided the discipline and training needed to obtain these goals.

Along with these special navigators there were fellow crew members who provided moral support which was necessary to continue the drive towards victory. They came to watch regardless of the weather, sharing with us our defeats as well as our victories.

We would like to thank the navigators, the crew members and especially those who participated in the competition for making the voyage one which will be remembered by all.

Football

This year's Ranger Football team had a very successful season, posting a 9-1 regular season record. Led by BC-bound quarterback Mike Power and ace receiver Kevin Collins, the offensive attack was unstoppable. The offensive line, led by center Bob Twombly and Junior Tom Schaefer provided all the blocking that was needed. Defensively the squad was led by linebackers Todd Dick and Ed Longo and the whole secondary, who were outstanding. The defensive line came away with many sacks and stopped many runs throughout the year.

The two highlights in the Ranger season were beating Algonquin in the Turkey Day game and, of course, the Super Bowl.

On December 1, the Rangers squared up against the Fitchburg Red Raiders. The Red Raiders were the favorites, being from a bigger school and a bigger town. It seemed, however, that the whole town of Westboro got behind the Rangers. A police escort and a large crowd pumped the team up. They went out and blew Fitchburg away 25-7.

This successful season would not have been possible without the time and devotion given by Coach Jan Gebo, Coach Mike Healy and Coach Marty Hayes. It was their confidence and inspiration which guided the team to victory.

Powder Puff

Maryvonne Izzard, Sheila Hinde and Heidi Reents introduced to the school this year the first annual Powder Puff football game in dedication to our friend Mr. Robert Kirby. The game consisted of junior and senior girls trying their hands at touch football. In between the halves of this game, the Powder Puff Marching Band entertained the fans along with the cheerleaders (junior and senior boys) from both teams.

With the help of coaches Jan Gebo, Al Hulbert, George Kasierski and Jim Lightbody, the girls put on an excellent display of teamwork, sportsmanship and fun. The seniors were led by Julie Lamarche and Heidi Reents behind the wisardry of their coach Jan Gebo. The juniors were led by the speedy Beth Viscardi and Chris Chovinard. The end result of this event was a 24-18 victory for the seniors and a VCR machine (and more) for Mr. Kirby. We would like to thank all who participated in the event and we deeply appreciate all that they have done.

Field Hockey

Seniors: Heidi Reents, Sue Breen, Kathy Newey, Carol Malone, Patricia Pastor, Jen Menzel, Terri Cox

This year's field hockey team had an outstanding season posting a 7-4-4 record. They qualified for the Division 1 District playoffs. Unfortunately, they were edged out of the competition in the first round by a tough Shrewsbury team, 2 goals to none. The Rangers were led by Senior Captains Susan Breen (M.V.P.) and Heidi Reents (Most Outstanding Defensive Player). Senior Carol Malone contributed greatly to the team's success and morale. Defensively for the Rangers, Mary Beth Dominico and Kirsten Forrest, both first year goalies, played like seasoned veterans throughout the year.

The team's spirit was kept up this year by many of the players. Senior newcomes Patricia Pastor (Most Improved) and Junior Nancy Scott continually dreamed up new stunts to keep the team together. "We had our ups and downs this year," coach O'Neil said, "but overall, it was a great season."

Boys X-Country

Seniors: Ed Sullivan, Dave Blasko, Jim Killeen

Senior tri-captains Dave Blasko, Jim Killeen and Ed Sullivan led their team of eighteen young men to a 2-10 record. The runners were under the direction of Coach Clark Masters. Coach Masters was elated with the "great turnout" and was very proud of all his runners. Standouts on the team included senior Dave Blasko (M.V.P.), sophomore Tim Goland and junior Dan Sullivan (Most Improved). Ed Sullivan, meanwhile, was the team comedian, always finding new ways to insult people (especially Bugger).

One of the funnier moments in the season occured in Nashoba. There, one of our runners (who shall remain nameless) got lost in the woods. After 45 minutes, he emerged form the woods with a record. The longest time to complete the course!

"My heart belongs to Cross Country."

GO FOR IT!

Girls X-Country

The girls cross country team posted a 5-6 record this season. The team was made up of all underclassmen who worked very hard and contributed greatly towards the team. The girls were headed by Coach John Doyle. Coach Doyle was very pleased with the girls. They had a lot of enthusiasm and never gave up during the season.

The girls were led by the strong running of freshman Donna Straight and junior Michelle Baliunias. Donna has proven to be one of the strongest runners Westboro has seen. In one meet she missed the school record by just seconds. Sophomore Debbie Powell had a strong season cut short by injury.

With all of the team hopefully coming back next year, the Westboro Girls Cross Country Team should prove to be a success.

Almost there!

Going for the gold.

Boys Soccer

Seniors: Brian Lemoff, Mark Martino, Mike Lyons, Brian Tompkins, Tim Ayres, Ian Johnson

The Boys Soccer Team like the girls, did not have such an outstanding season. Perhaps it was the lack of support given to them by the school which led to their 1-12-2 record. Or perhaps it was their consistent injuries throughout the year. However, as a final farewell, they stalemated a high-powered Auburn team 1-1 in their final game.

Seniors Brian Tompkins (goalie), Tim Ayres (injured for most of the season), and Ian Johnson were the captains for the fearless bunch of individuals under the direction of Coach Curt Snear. Tim Ayres promised to become the team's "Power Forward" and leading goal scorer, however, his leg injury ended these hopes before the season began. This gave junior Paul Anderson the chance to move in and earn the M.V.P. award.

Girls Soccer

Captains: Julie Lamarche, Kim Bauer, Beth Viscardi

The girls soccer team finished the year with an 0-18 record. This record, however, does not reflect the effort and pride exhibited by the team. The team was coached by first year man John Lowbridge and his assistant coach John Hayes. Both coaches were pleased with the girls because they "stuck with it." Of the girls, Coach Lowbridge says, "Even though we lost a lot of games they were nothing but winners out there." He is looking forward to the next soccer season, which will be the third year our girls have had a soccer team.

Seniors Kim Bauer and Julie Lamarche and junior Beth Viscardi (the captains) were largely responsible for maintaining the positive attitude this courageous group of girls had through such a rough season. It was this attitude and determination that helped the team to improve greatly as the season came to an end. And what of Westborough's third season? In the words of Coach Lowbridge, " . . . WE ARE GOING TO GO FOR BROKE NEXT YEAR!"

"What am I supposed to do now?"

Volleyball

Seniors: Marianne Seidman, Mary Flahive, Jackie McVey

Coach Corcoran's girls did not have too bad of a season this year. Their 8-5-0 record shows that they know how to win. Senior captains Mary Flahive and Jackie McVey led their team both in spirit off the court and sportsmanship on the court. Meanwhile, sophomore Sheila Walsh proved worthy of the Most Improved award with consistent great play behind the powerful serve of Kate Allen. This years MVP award goes to Stephanie Foulke who also proved that she deserved this award.

Coach Corcoran would like to thank the players and their parents for a good season. With only three seniors leaving the team, next year's team should do very well.

Anticipation

Mar takes charge

Boys Basketball

Captains Mike Power and Kevin Collins have led the basketball team to a 10-0 mid season record. The team has dominated each game with their fastbreaking, high scoring and rebounding. Senior Rich Maloney has done an outstanding job at guard. For the Rangers, Matt McSweeney and Doug Montgomery have done well at the center position. Mike Trethewey, who was injured during the football season has come to form. The team is having a lot of fun this year, and hopes to go all the way to the states so the Moonlighters can sing in the Centrum.

Seniors: Mike Trethewey, Mike Power, Kevin Collins, Doug Montgomery, E.J. Gorak, Steve DeVries, Matt McSweeney, Todd Dick, Rich Maloney

Girls Basketball

In a disappointing season for the girls, who presently post a 4-8 record, Coach Young is still proud of his girls' hard work. Even though hampered by injuries, co-captains Cindy Devaux and Carole Malone have kept their team up for every game, regardless of who they were playing. On offense, junior Gretchen Reents, senior Susan Breene and co-captain Malone figured highly in most games; whereas co-captain Cindy Devaux and junior Lori Matuzek led the defense.

Though their record is not one to brag about, their season is. Many of their losses were tough 1-4 point games which could very easily have been victories. The girls began the season 0-3, losing to the 3 non-league opponents (Holy Name, Southbridge and then Holy Name again) that they play every year. Therefore, in the league the girls are 4-5 with high hopes to break the five hundred mark. We wish these girls the best of luck in attaining their goal.

Seniors. Diana Hayes, Cindy Devaux, Carol Malone, Terri Cox. Sue Breen, Jen Linnaine

Hockey

This year's hockey team had a very disappointing season. Before his first game, Coach Al Coolidge found himself without the veteran talents of senior Bill Campbell. With Bill gone, senior goalie Bob Hunter and senior Jim Brown took charge of the team. Suffering tough but close losses throughout the season, Coolidge called on sophomores Steve Tepper and Kevin Grant to put some points on the board and change the season around. Brian Cacciapouti (senior) also figured in on some key goals this season.

Spirit was harder to keep up on the team than in the stands. Fellow classmates travelled to North Star and other rinks to watch their team compete as best as they could. The players and the coaches thank you fans for giving them support throughout the season, even when the going got rough.

Gymnastics

Mrs. Borek's girls showed a lot of talent and courage this year. Senior Stephanie Hobby went down early with an arm injury, but did all she could to make a come back, competing one-handed near the end of the season. Sheila Hinde, also a senior, helped to keep up the team's morale during the long season. Mrs. Borek was pleased with the large turnout of girls on the first day of practice. The team shows much potential for next year and promises to capitalize on it.

Ending the season with a 0-10 record, the girls went from meet to meet in high spirits hoping to come home with a victory — if not by winning the meet then by winning personal challenges. We wish them the best of luck in the future and hope there are no more injuries to come.

SENIORS: Sheila Hinde, Stephanie Hobby

Cheerleaders

This year's cheerleaders have really helped capture the school spirit. New faces and new cheers (ready aim fire . . .) really made watching them fun. The great football and basketball teams gave them something extra to cheer about. The captains this year were Kathy Coffee and Vicki Belanger. Seniors Lisa McTighe and Lenore Pulaksi provided extra antics to keep the crowd happy. Overall it was a fun and exciting season for the girls and next year should be the same.

Swabbies

Way back in September of 1981, the first mates began their voyage on the "Ranger". As time went on many sailors were recruited to help everyone on the journey, year after year. Each crew added the joy, friendships and variety that helped to make this journey so special.

Earlier this year, the seaman recruits of 1984 joined the voyage. At first, many of them were easily confused and frightened by the unfamiliar surroundings. "Where are we going?" and "What are we supposed to do?" were questions asked by most of the first year sailors. Often times these new recruits were afraid that the ship was going to sink. However, we're sure that they'll glide smoothly into their second year.

This second year is already winding down for the recruits of 1983. By now these sailors have grown accustomed to the ship and have adapted to the occasional rough weather they encounter in their daily lives while traveling. They feel a certain confidence in the ship and, although they're still not exactly sure of where the ship is going, they trust in the expertise of the Navigators. They have grown accustomed to the routine of daily work and all the responsibilities that are necessary for running a ship of this sort.

Meanwhile, the recruits of 1982, in their third year on the "Ranger", are becoming more daring and ambitious. Hardwork is the order of the day for these experienced sailors, as they prepare for the coming promotion to first mates the following year. Because of the increasing responsibility and the harder work load, many Juniors experience a pre-first mate seasickness near the end of their third year. This illness is characterized by tardiness to attending the duties of the ship, group breakfasts and loud noise-making demonstrations in the mornings, and a greater fondness for the ocean and the sun and the outdoor life.

We, the logkeepers, hope that all of our fellow crew members have grown from their experiences on the "Ranger". It is our wish that they will continue to explore the unchartered ocean of life, even after they find the best routes on which to travel.

First Mates

Athough most sailors get promoted to First Mates during September of their senior year, we took over the Ranger's helm in June. Our first course of action was to organize several "senior breakfasts" while we were still juniors (see picture right). They got off to a rough start at first, for not everyone showed up. But our last senior breakfast was participated in widely and went as smooth as jello (just ask Abdow's). We also challenged the "Navigators" to a softball game last year. Our class won, of course, but the faculty showed their seaworthiness by being strong competitors (see above photo).

Last fall, several female First Mates put together their own version of "stretching the sea legs" (or should we say "switching the sea legs"?): the Powder Puff football game. All the proceeds, over $1000, went to benefit Mr. Kirby. Meanwhile, in real football, several of our own senior s helped our first-place varsity football team secure its first Superbowl victory. These guys really deserve the title of First Mates!

Our class continued to show high spirits right through the holidays. For the first time our class won Booster Week (see photo above right). Another example is found in our activities on the day before Christmas vacation. Unlike other years, this was a full day of school — no getting out at 11:00. Evidently the administration and faculty wanted to enjoy our elfing activities for a longer period of time (see picture top far right).

When March finally rolled around, we turned in our sailor uniforms for those of thugs and hatbox dancers as we put on our production of "Guys and Dolls". A superb performance was given by Bonnie (Adelaide) Carlson, Mike (Nathan) Holmes, Stacy (Sarah) Dapolite, and Doug (Sky) Montgomery.

We are now ready to pass on control of the Ranger to the Juniors as we set sail on our individual ships after graduation. A word of thanks is due to all those who have helped us on our journey on the Ranger — the navigators, the seaman recruits and everybody else. We couldn't of made it without you.

Overseas

I am very glad I got the opportunity to be an exchange student. This year has been giving me a lot of new and good experiences. I want to thank my host family, the Pehls; the staff at Westboro High, and all the people I got to know from school. You have all helped to make this a very happy year. I will return.

Trond

In Memory of ...

Matt Cunning and Eddie Pepper

We, the class of 1985, want to remember two of our classmates who were taken from us suddenly during our soph-more year. The High School years are a collection of experiences and contacts with many people. Although our experiences with Matt and Eddie were brief, they have given us many memories and will always be a part of us.

MOMENTS TO REMEMBER

We remember, we remember, while looking at the past
September, nineteen eighty-one, the years slip by too fast.
For we were simple freshmen then, and seniors held their sway;
Though young and shy, we knew for sure we'd rule the school one day.
At turtle's pace, we learned so much we did not know,
And many thought we might survive, though far we had to go.
As we all became as one, our leaders led us well.
We joined our forces, working hard, but only time would tell.

We remember, we remember, returning in the fall
As sophomores, we looked down on some, yet seniors were most tall.
We chose and purchased our class rings with special pride and glee.
Again we picked our officers who served us loyally.

We remember, we remember, our junior year — what fun.
S.A.T.'s and talent show, we had only just begun.
In May, there came a special night; we planned and worked with care.
The Junior Prom saw each boy with a cinderella there.
In June when all the seniors left, with courage yet with fear,
We knew the moment had arrived; we faced our senior year.

We remember, we remember, this year of trial and test.
We stood, the class of eighty-five, above, beyond the rest.
The year's events all took place, the games, exams, and dances.
Now, each one rests in memory which each event enhances.
With banquet, prom and tassled caps, we bade a fond farewell
To these past four years about which mere words can hardly tell.
We only hope with heart and soul from such a thrilling past,
Through all the years and years to come, sweet memories will last.

CONGRATULATIONS TO US

My editors haven't paid any attention to me since September. However, since I chose them I am responsible for my own obsolescence.

R. Kaplan

We might not have paid much attention but we got the job don
However, a little guidance now and then never hurt. Thanks f your patience (and occasional guidance).

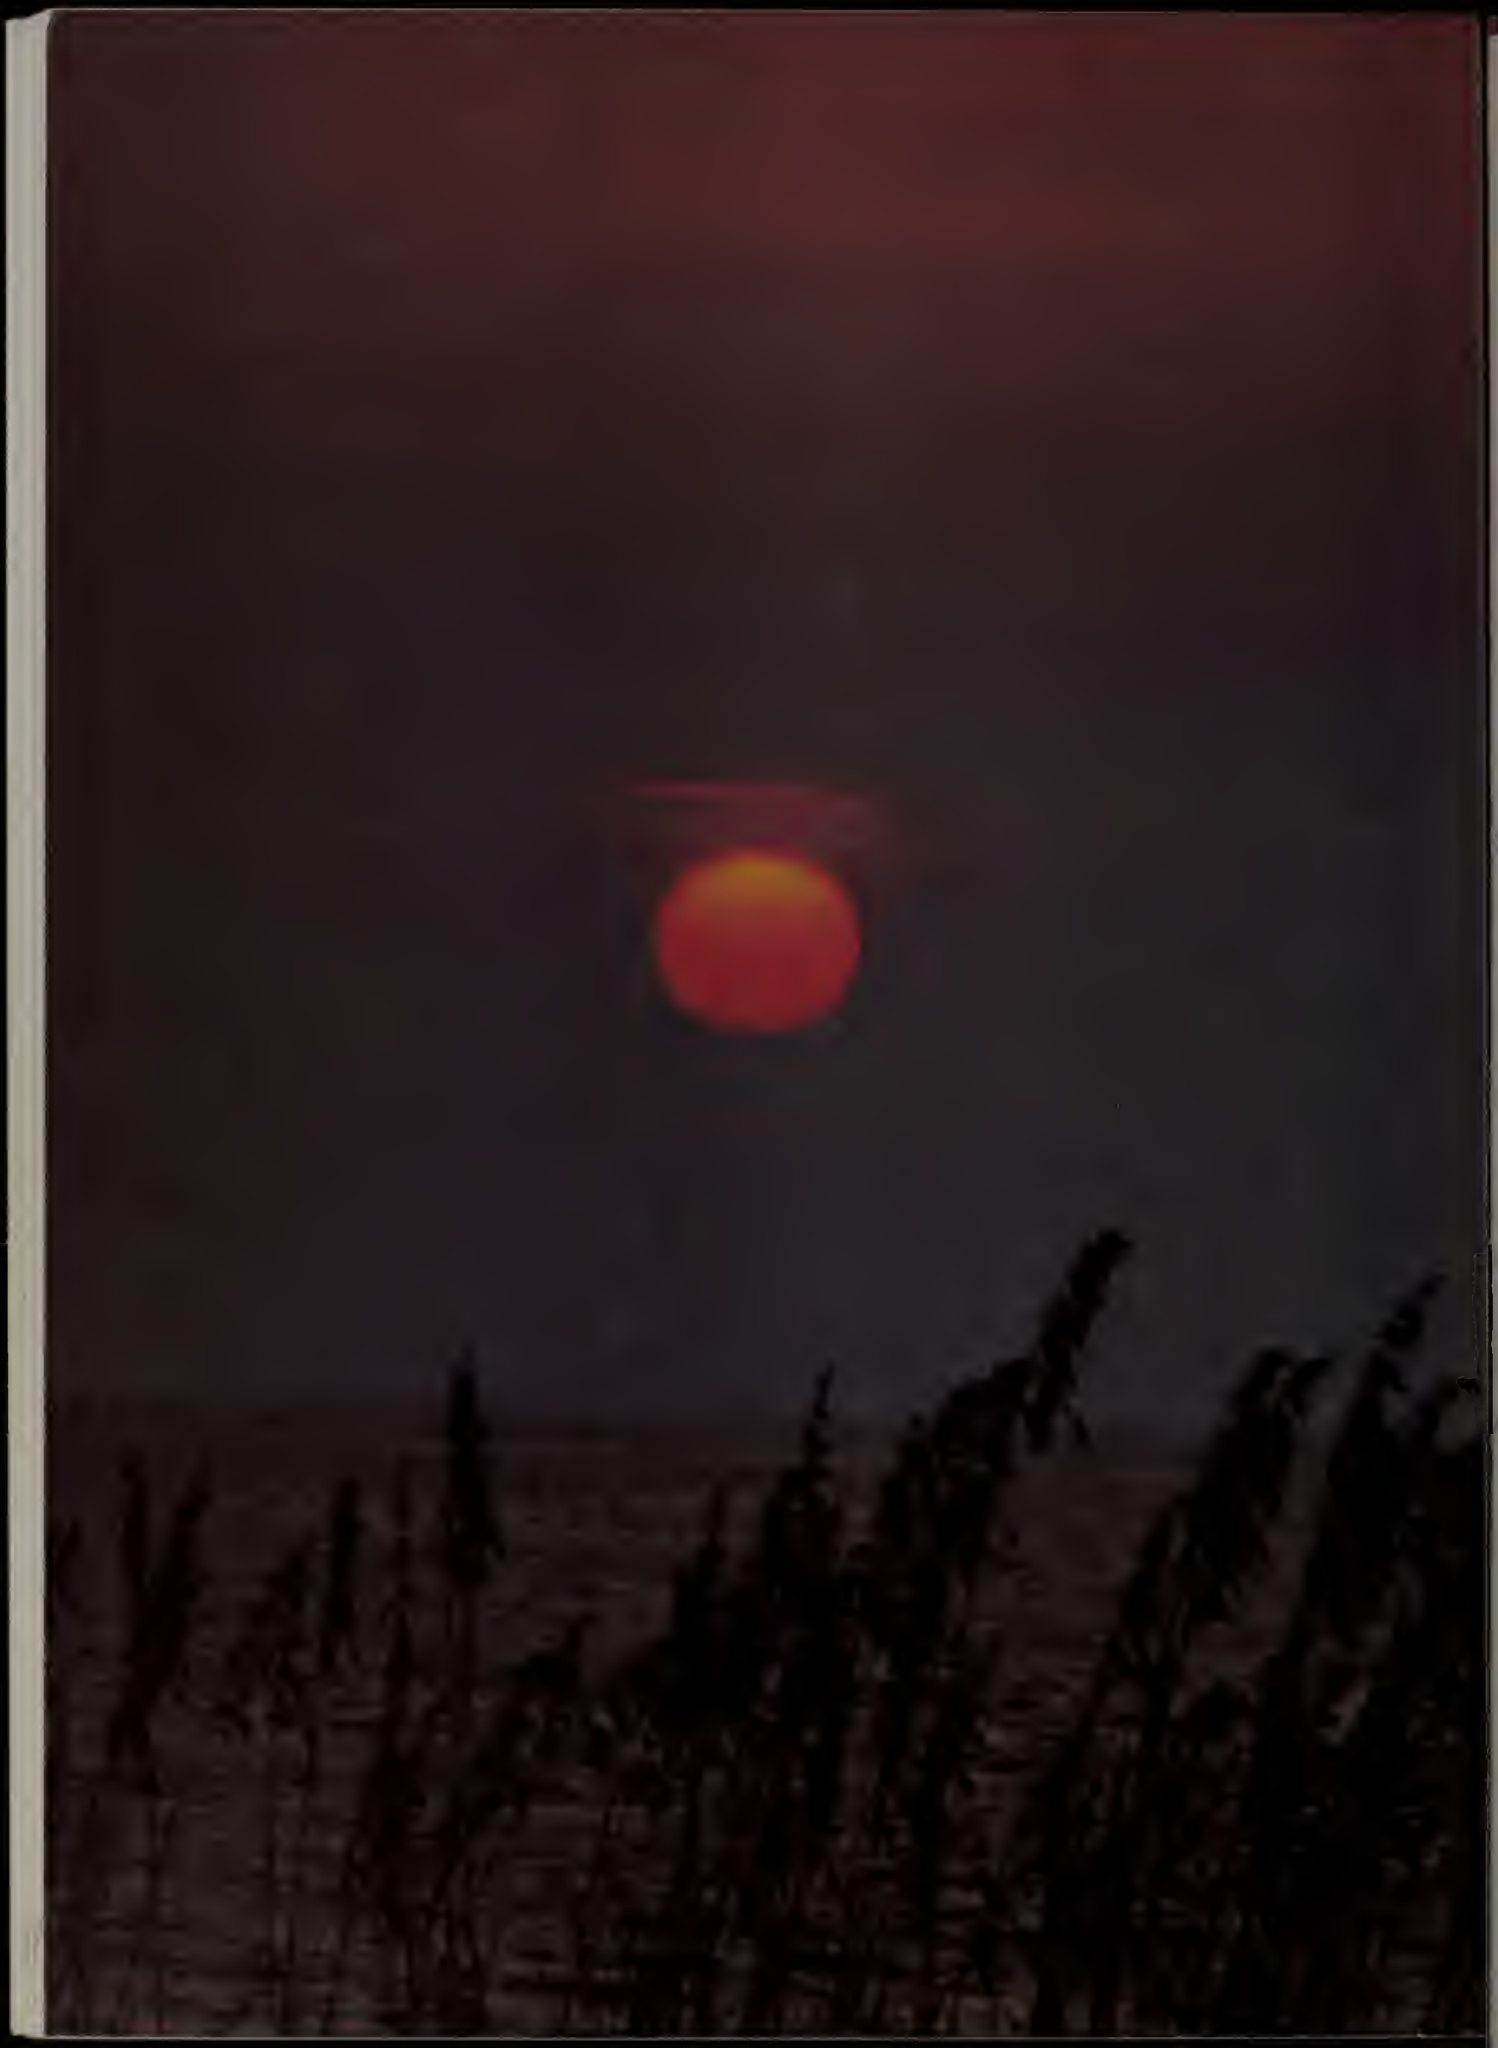
Your Editors,
Lisa, Beth and Patty



The class of 1985 would like to express its sincere gratitude to our advisor Mrs. Eames.
